

DIY

Dry Erase Boards

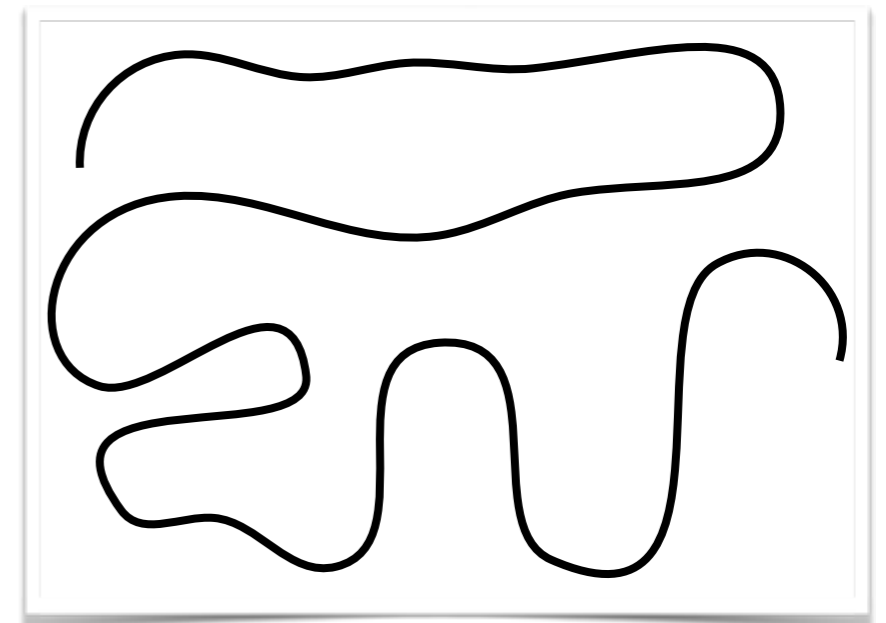

DIY - DRY ERASE BOARDS

FOR ACTIVITY - Magic Erasers

PURPOSE OF ACTIVITY

- vision efficiency
- fine motor
- hand eye coordination

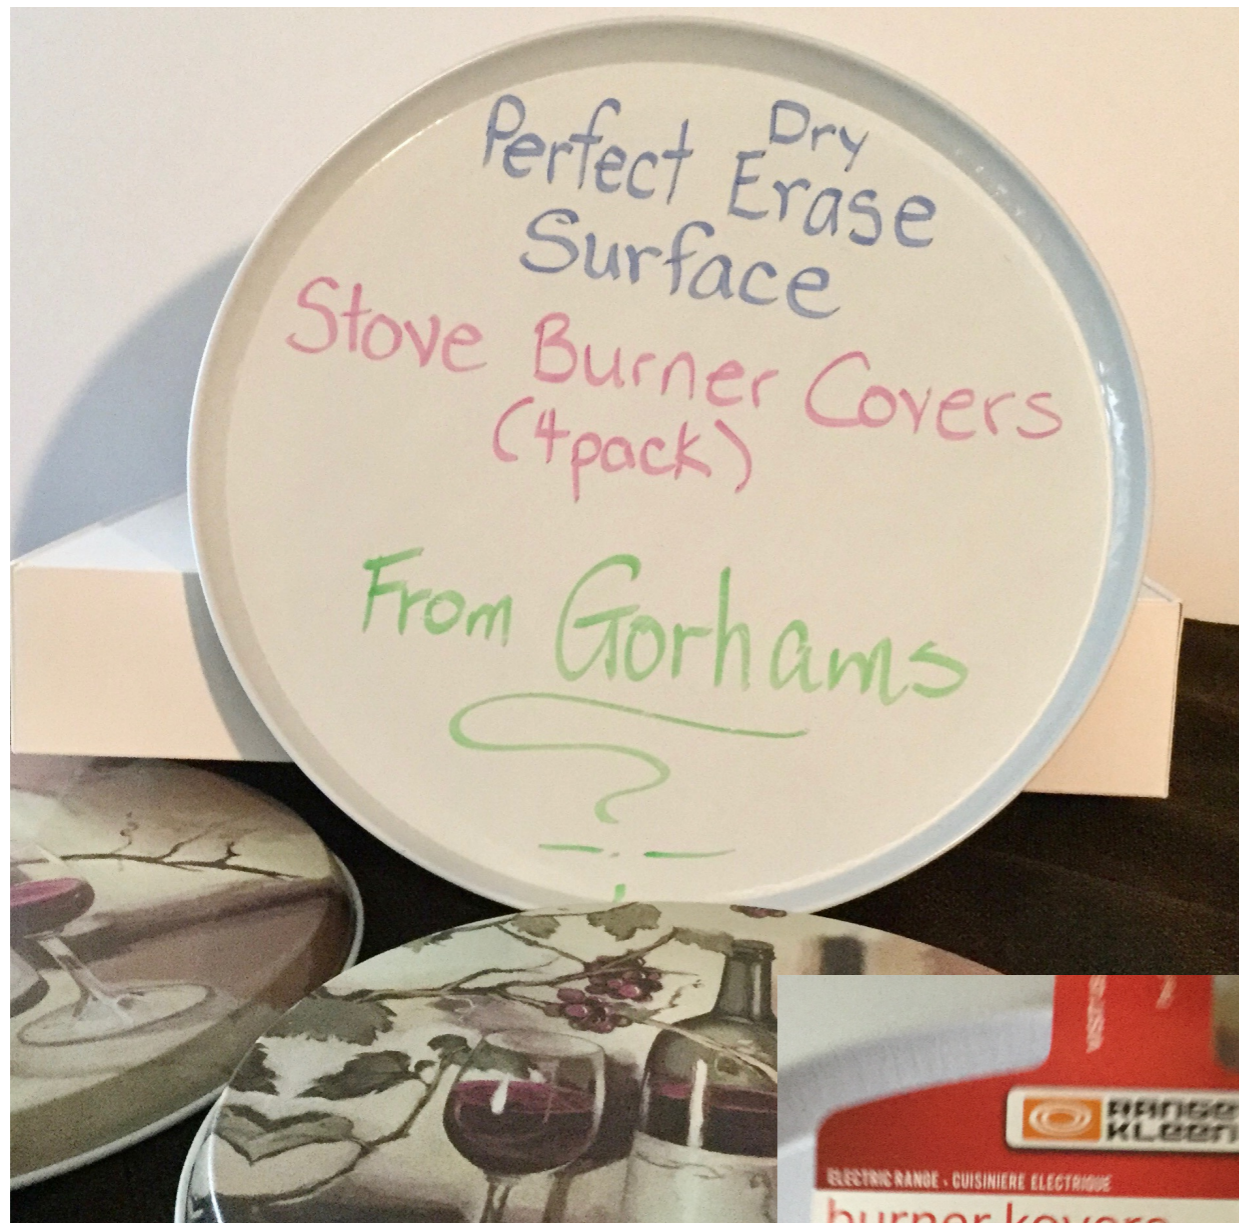

How to do the activity:

- Child creates patterns with dry erase marker.
- Child uses felt tipped eraser to erase the pattern in the same way they created it.

DIY Dry Erase Board

Stove Burner Cover

This surface is the inside of a large stove burner cover.

It was purchased from Gorhams.

I found this to be an excellent substitute for little ones.

No danger of any glass shattering.

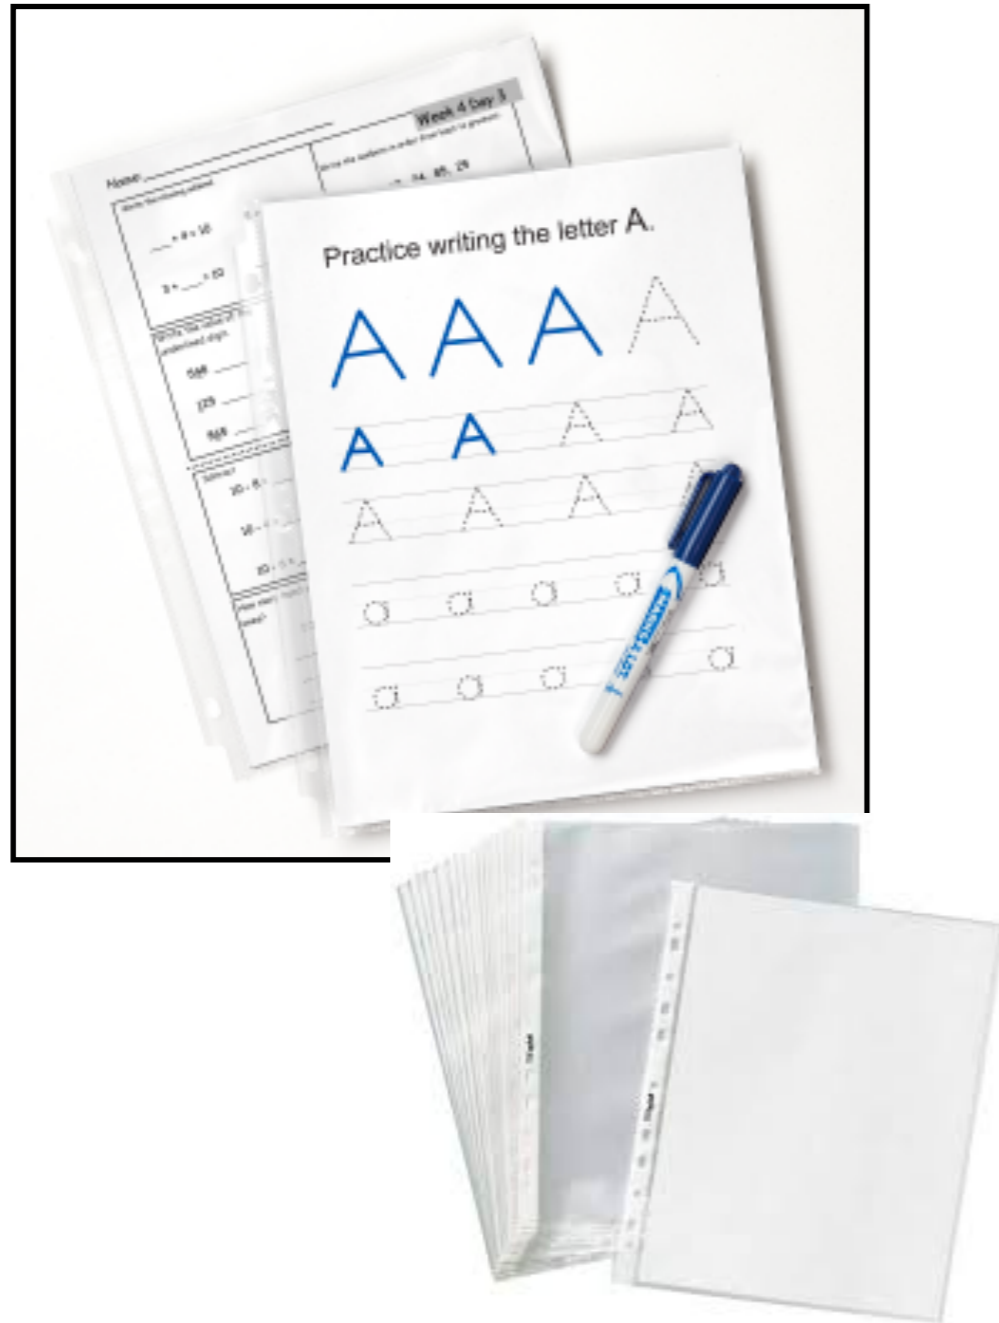

DIY Dry Erase Board - Alternative 1

Page Protectors

We use so many sheet protectors at BSMART!

Place a piece of card board or card stock inside the sleeve first, then if needed, slip in a white sheet of paper in front of it and there you go!

<https://www.kiwico.com/diy/Arts-and-Crafts-Ideas/1/project/Duct-Tape-Dry-Erase-Board/1996>

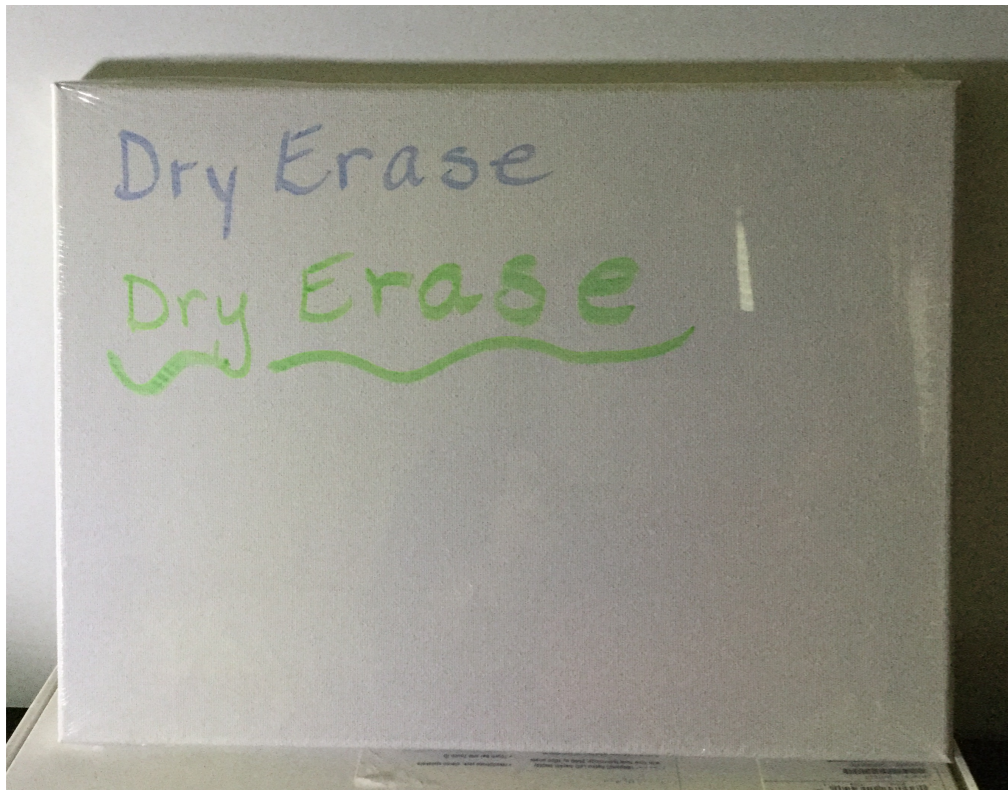

DIY Dry Erase Board - Alternative

A sturdy Ziploc bag will do too!

DIY Dry Erase Board - Alternatives

This is an unwrapped painter's canvas.
Good enough result, but can rip easily since it is only covered with thin plastic.

This was a clear plate I had lying around.
I used white spray paint on the other side for another project, but it still worked for this purpose as well.

DIY Dry Erase Board - Alternative

Dry Erase Tape

If you don't have any dry erase tape, you can use duct tape!

Duct Tape

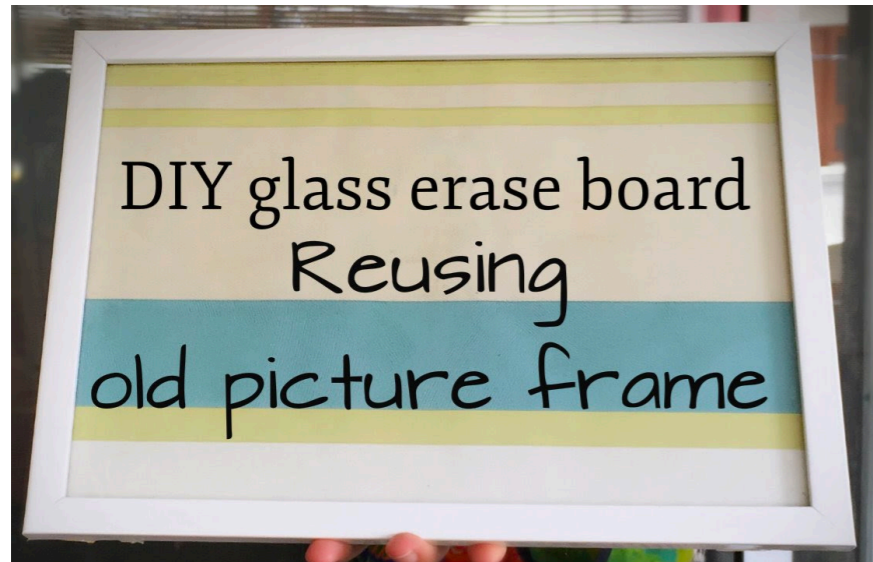

Little Kid Friendly!

https://youtu.be/V_NdIDzI3V8

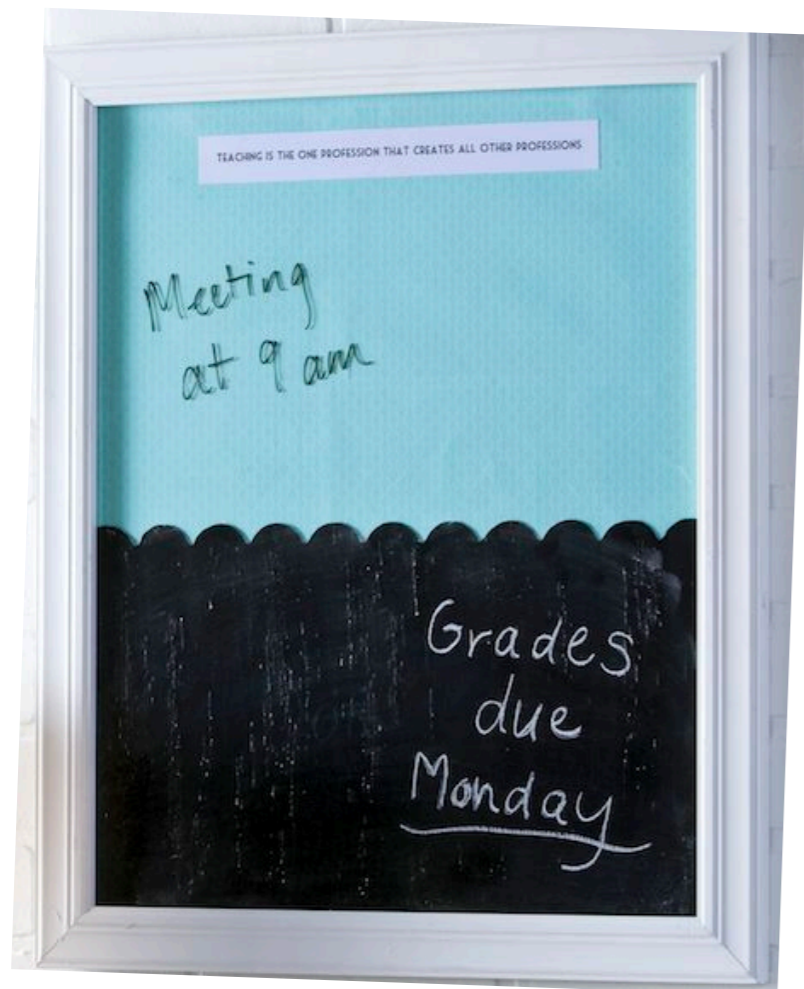

<https://youtu.be/gztEddEbSsQ>

DIY Dry Erase Board - Alternative

Picture Frame

For safety, it's best attached to a wall.

There are plenty of tutorials on Youtube.

<https://youtu.be/iPyIYx8VUIU>

<https://youtu.be/eTAuxYVBefg>

<https://youtu.be/9fiMdZE5aS8>

https://youtu.be/9cQX_ECro-s